

Mary Gayle Holden

I was baptized as an Episcopalian and have been an Episcopalian all my life. I have been a member of Emmanuel since at least 2012. It is important to me to be able to give back to the community, whether it is to the local community or the community in a broader sense. I have served the Church as a member of the Vestry in the past, and am excited to serve again. It would be my privilege to help the Church in this way. I am a Charlottesville native, and graduated from Roanoke College and then the University of Virginia School of Law. I first practiced law in Fairfax before moving to Washington to join Foley & Lardner. I still am practicing law in Purcellville. I am married to Peter Holden and we have five sons, three daughters-in-law and five grandchildren. Peter and I have led teams for Habitat for Humanity to build houses in countries in Central and South America.
